CAS 125: Creating an Inclusive Campus Community: Disability, Mentorship, and Inclusive Higher Education

Fridays, 2:00pm – 3:30pm

Throughout this course students will explore the history, meaning, and lived reality of disability, with an emphasis on defining disability as diversity rather than deficit. This course is designed especially to support students serving as mentors or coaches to fellow UR students who experience intellectual and/or developmental disability (IDD) and participate in the Transition Opportunities at UR (TOUR).
